Information Booklet for DEIS schools participating in the Home School Community Liaison Scheme

"It is clear from the Irish experience that educational initiatives based in schools can raise the educational level of the adults involved, and result in a general sense of empowerment in the local community. Parental involvement, especially in areas of socio-economic deprivation, does not just benefit the children and the school - it is a crucial aspect of lifelong learning."

The HSCL Scheme – Historical Background

“The underlying policy of the Home School Community Liaison (HSCL) Scheme is one that seeks to promote partnership between parents and teachers. The purpose of this partnership is to enhance pupils’ learning opportunities and to promote their retention in the education system. In addition, the HSCL Scheme places great emphasis on collaboration with the local community. The HSCL Scheme is the pioneer in involving the school in the life of the community and involving the community and its agencies in the life of the school.” The Home School Community Liaison Scheme in Ireland: From Vision to Best Practice written by the HSCL Coordinators, 2005-2006.

The HSCL Scheme was initiated as a pilot project in 1990. It was designed as a result of a review carried out on the Disadvantaged Areas Scheme, a scheme introduced in 1984, which provided additional funding to primary schools in disadvantaged areas.

The HSCL Scheme was initially a three year pilot scheme, which involved the appointment of thirty teachers as HSCL Coordinators, in fifty five selected primary schools included in the Disadvantaged Areas Scheme at the time. It was extended in 1991 to a further 13 post primary schools, that served the children from the original selected primary schools. The three year pilot phase of the HSCL Scheme ended in June 1993. All disadvantaged primary and post primary schools in the Disadvantaged Areas Scheme were offered a Home School Community Liaison service from September 1999.

The HSCL Scheme was further extended in 2005 under DEIS (Delivering Equality of Opportunity in Schools), the Action Plan for educational inclusion.

Evaluations carried out by the Educational Research Centre (ERC) on the HSCL Scheme include the following:-

- “Review of the Home-School-Community Liaison Scheme - Report to the Department of Education and Science” by Peter Archer and Fionnuala Shortt, published by the Educational Research Centre, 2003 (available on www.erc.ie)
- “The Home-School-Community Liaison Scheme - Final evaluation report” published by the Educational Research Centre, 1994 (available on www.erc.ie)

DEIS and HSCL

DEIS was launched in May 2005 and remains the Department of Education and Skills policy instrument to address educational disadvantage. It replaces all previous disadvantaged schemes, namely the Disadvantaged Areas Scheme, Breaking the Cycle and Giving Children an Even Break.

All DEIS Urban Primary and DEIS Post Primary schools are currently included in the HSCL Scheme. Under the National Recovery Plan 2011 to 2014, Rural DEIS schools were withdrawn from the Rural Coordinator service under HSCL in September, 2011.

The DEIS frame of reference is based on the definition of “educational disadvantage” in the Education Act (1998) as:

“...the impediments to education arising from social or economic disadvantage which prevent students from deriving appropriate benefit from education in schools.”

DEIS focuses on addressing and prioritising the educational needs of children and young people from disadvantaged communities, from pre-school through second-level education (3 to 18 years), through the School Support Programme, which includes a suite of interventions comprising in-school and out-of-school supports.

These supports include enhanced teaching resources in schools with the highest levels of disadvantage; additional financial resources for all DEIS schools; access to literacy and numeracy supports; curricular supports; planning and professional development supports, transfer programmes from primary to post primary and access programmes to third level. In addition, the School Support Programme includes two major interventions, namely, the HSCL Scheme and the School Completion Programme (SCP).

Among the key measures implemented under the DEIS Action Plan are: the streamlining of measures for addressing educational disadvantage, targeted measures to address problems of literacy and numeracy, measures to enhance student attendance, educational progression, retention and attainment.

Central to the success of the DEIS Action Plan is an increased emphasis on planning at school and school cluster level, target-setting and measurement of progress and outcomes, to ensure that the increased investment is matched by an improvement in educational outcomes for the children and young people concerned.

In addition, schools are expected to place a renewed emphasis on the involvement of parents and families in children’s education by incorporating the HSCL function into their three-year DEIS Action Plan.

Three reports arising from research in DEIS schools, undertaken separately and independently by the ERC and the Department's Inspectorate in 2011¹, conclude that ...“There is clear evidence that the DEIS programme is having a positive effect on tackling educational disadvantage”.

The report on the first phase of the evaluation of DEIS found clear evidence that achievement in reading and mathematics in sample DEIS urban primary schools was higher in 2010 than in 2007. The difference was statistically significant and was found at all grade levels. Progress appeared most marked among pupils with lower levels of achievement and positive change in achievement was most evident in junior grades. In terms of the provision of activities for parents, the reports from both the ERC and the Department's Inspectorate confirm that schools are extremely conscious of the importance of positive school-parental linkages.

- Both the ERC and the Department's Inspectorate reports confirm that primary schools are maintaining and continuing to provide activities for parents, including activities that are related to their children's learning.
- At post primary level, the Department's Inspectorate evaluation findings point to positive engagement by schools, in implementing interventions to improve partnership with parents and the community.

DEIS Planning Process and the HSCL Scheme

“Schools that receive additional support and resources through participation in DEIS are expected to support the DEIS Action Plan through a systematic planning and monitoring process at individual school level and at school/cluster/community level. The involvement of students, parents, local communities and agencies operating at local level is considered an important dimension of the planning process. Schools are expected to develop Action Plans focussing on the following areas: attendance, retention, educational progression, literacy and numeracy, examination attainment (at post primary), parent and community partnership, partnership between schools and links with external agencies. Progress in the implementation of these Action Plans should be kept under review and adjusted in light of experience.” An Evaluation of Planning Processes in DEIS Primary Schools, Inspectorate, DES, 2011

The HSCL Coordinator plays a critical role in supporting the development, implementation, evaluation and review of the school's DEIS Action Plan, particularly in the promotion of parental involvement.

HSCL – A support for DEIS schools within the Child and Family Agency's integrated Educational Welfare Services

In 2009, operational responsibility for the HSCL Scheme [and the School Completion Programme] was transferred to the former National Educational Welfare Board (NEWB), which had statutory functions in respect of school attendance, through Educational Welfare Officers (EWOs). A Memorandum of Agreement between NEWB and the Department of Education and Skills, at that time, outlined NEWB's obligation to develop:

"...a single, strategic approach reflecting equally the nature of and strengths of each of the services, including the National Educational Welfare Service to address school attendance, participation and retention."

NEWB was mandated to assume:

"...responsibility for the management, development and direction of the Home School Community Liaison Programme, the School Completion Programme in line with Department policy."

The Department of Education and Skills and NEWB agreed that:

"The NEWB will put in place a process and structures for the development of the single strategic approach, for the governance, management and operation of the integrated service, including the use of the allocated human and financial resources to provide an integrated service to children, families and schools, aimed at eliminating poor attendance and early school leaving and maximising school retention and participation."

Essentially, NEWB could now focus the work of three service strands of NEWB in a commitment to "maximising student attendance, participation and retention."

The management arrangements provided for a single, focused strategic direction at local, regional and national levels, reflecting equally the nature and strength of each of the three services. It brought together personnel throughout the country, strengthening the functions of the individual services, while contributing significantly to the capacity of the NEWB to deliver on its statutory remit, thus bringing about improved outcomes for children, families and schools.

In June 2011, certain NEWB functions under the Education (Welfare) Act 2000, as well as operational responsibility for the integrated DEIS school support services, under its remit, transferred from the Minister of Education and Skills to the Minister for Children and Youth Affairs. Given the particular remit of the NEWB, through its integrated service strands, in relation to school attendance, participation and retention, it continued to work directly with the Department of Education and Skills in order to support and consolidate the work of DEIS schools in ensuring that children's participation in the educational system is maximised.

On January 1st 2014, the statutory functions of the NEWB under the Education (Welfare) Act 2000, were transferred to the newly established Child and Family Agency Tusla (the Agency) and the NEWB was dissolved. Responsibility for the services, formerly provided by NEWB, now rests with the Educational Welfare Services (EWS) of the new Agency, which is the dedicated state agency responsible for improving wellbeing and outcomes for children. The work of HSCL continues as a vital part of the integrated Educational Welfare Services of the Agency in DEIS schools.

The Department of Education and Skills remains responsible for the allocation of HSCL Coordinators to schools.

Educational Welfare Services – intervention practice model

The aim and rationale of an integrated services strategy for Educational Welfare Services in the Child and Family Agency is

- to provide more effective service delivery, through appropriate intervention, for children who have difficulties in relation to school attendance, participation and retention
- to foster and develop improved engagement with other agencies and services working with children and families, and
- to influence more effective policy-making with an increased emphasis on planning, outcome measurement and the gathering of evidence on the impact of interventions.

An integrated services intervention practice model, incorporating the work of its three service strands, (statutory EWS, HSCL & SCP) is at an advanced stage of development.

The intervention practice model is designed to facilitate standardisation of service delivery, fully acknowledging and accommodating the particular functions and contributions of each strand, whilst also taking into consideration the need for flexibility around interventions between and across the strands, given the unique nature of difficulties presenting in individual children's lives. This shared script, with key messages on roles, ways of working and outcomes, will mean a more consistent service, as well as helping service strand personnel – in this case, HSCL co-ordinators – to look beyond the immediate presenting need, and their own specific remit, in collaborating on interventions with vulnerable children and families, based on sound needs analysis and planning.

Vision and Values of HSCL

- HSCL is a full-time undertaking. HSCL Coordinators are released from all teaching duties and engage in full-time liaison work between the home, the school, and the community. Under no circumstances, can a HSCL Coordinator be timetabled for teaching duties in the school.
- The scheme operates in a spirit of partnership and collaboration with parents and teachers, while at the same time, being part of an ongoing and wider integrated services approach to children's educational welfare.
- The scheme is unified and integrated at both primary and post primary levels.
- The thrust of the scheme is preventative, ensuring that interventions are put in place, which will impact positively on parents and children, in order to improve educational outcomes.
- The focus of the scheme is principally on the salient adults, whose attitudes and behaviours impinge on the attendance, participation and retention of children in education. This involves the identification of and response to needs, through a set of interventions, which are evidence- based.
- The scheme helps to develop and promote teacher and staff attitudes to partnership. It encourages a whole-school approach to improving attendance, participation and retention in education.
- The scheme is solution-focused, building on the strengths of parents and carers through empowerment and capacity-building.
- Visiting families in their home setting is a crucial element in establishing trust, assessing needs, and monitoring the effect of plans and interventions put in place to bring about improved outcomes for children.
- Partnership with the two other service strands, within Educational Welfare Services, of the Child and Family Agency, other relevant support services and voluntary and statutory agencies is essential to increasing effectiveness, reducing duplication and providing an integrated delivery of service to marginalised children and their families.

- The HSCL Coordinator is required to link with and work with the key players in the local community, so that they can add value to what is done in the school, in relation to attendance, participation and retention.
- The HSCL Coordinator is an agent of change, not only for individuals and families but also for schools and the wider educational system.

In summary, the HSCL Scheme:

- Targets children at risk of not reaching their potential in the educational system because of family-based issues, which adversely affect pupil attainment and school retention.
- Focuses directly on the significant adults in children's lives and seeks direct benefits for the children themselves.
- Works in an enabling way with parents to develop their capacity as a key resource in their children's learning.
- Develops the pupil-parent-teacher relationship, so that school becomes a place where all young people can reach their potential.
- Identifies and provides for the personal, leisure and learning needs of parents, so as to promote their self-worth and self-confidence, which will have a positive impact on their children's education.
- Becomes familiar with attendance patterns, in order to maximize student attendance, participation and retention.
- Works in a supportive and purposeful way with parents and facilitates communication with class teacher, tutor, year-head, and school management, when required.
- Promotes positive teacher and staff attitudes towards partnership-working and adopting a whole-school approach to attendance participation and retention.

HSCL Scheme - Key Priorities

- The HSCL scheme is targeted and focused on the most marginalised families.
- Home visitation is a central component of the scheme. “The home visit is crucial to developing empathy with families in their efforts to engage with the education system. It essentially builds a bridge between the home and the school. Information about the school and other services in the community is offered, and in turn, parents’ views and opinions are invaluable to the school. The visit is a two-way journey, where bonds of trust are built, in a spirit of mutual respect and support. The partnership of parent and school is crucial and enriches the child’s engagement with learning.” The Home School Community Liaison Scheme in Ireland: From Vision to Best Practice written by the HSCL Coordinators, 2005-2006. HSCL Coordinators spend at least 33% of their work time on home visitation, in order to establish positive relationships between home and school and to support parents in ensuring their children attend school and participate meaningfully in education.
- Individual parents are supported with their children's learning through the work of the HSCL Coordinator.
- HSCL Coordinators facilitate courses and classes for parents to help them support their children's learning. The provision of a parent’s room or dedicated space facilitates this and effectively, the school becomes a centre of welcome, where parents enjoy the hospitality of other parents in a warm and cheerful atmosphere, situated within their child’s school.
- Each HSCL Coordinator devises and promotes new methodologies and practices to counter educational disadvantage.
- Each HSCL Coordinator works to build on the capacity of parents to support other parents.
- Each HSCL Coordinator will produce plans incorporating targets, to meet the key priorities of the HSCL Scheme, in accordance with strategic direction of Educational Welfare Services in the Child and Family Agency.
- The positive outcomes of the HSCL scheme are recorded and shared throughout the school system.

Attributes of the HSCL Coordinator

“Key to the ongoing success of the HSCL Scheme is the selfless dedication of the HSCL personnel. HSCL Grants to Schools

The HSCL grant, allocated for the implementation of activities that are consistent with the principles and practices of the HSCL scheme, is incorporated within the overall annual grant, issued to all schools participating in DEIS.

It is a requirement that at least a minimum of 10% of the annual DEIS grant to each school must be allocated for use on HSCL activities by the HSCL Coordinator.

Guidelines on the use of the HSCL grant *

The HSCL grant is allocated to provide targeted supports, through the development of collaboration and partnership between the parents and teachers of children who are at risk of educational disadvantage and early school leaving. Courses and activities for parents range from leisure activities, personal development and parenting skills, further education, as well as support with their children's learning

The grant may also be used:-

- To establish and maintain a parent's room, excluding capital expenditure
- To pay travel expenses to the local HSCL Coordinator incurred in the discharge of duties (home visitation, attendance at cluster meetings, Continuous Professional Development (CPD)). National CPD for Coordinators is centrally funded by the EWS, Tusla and the Department of Children and Youth Affairs (DCYA). Schools contribute to CPD by covering travel expenses from the school's DEIS grant (See Department of Finance Circular 07/2009 for appropriate rates)
- To support the adaptation of the curriculum and teaching methodologies to meet targeted children's needs
- To purchase appropriate/approved resources for HSCL activities

NB: In accordance with Section 18 of the Education Act 1998, the Department requests that schools, other than ETB schools, continue to keep records of all activities undertaken, as well as materials and resources purchased with grants. Accounts of income and expenditure should be retained in the school and be made available, if required, to officers of the Department of Education and Skills and/or the Office of the Comptroller and Auditor General.

In accordance with Section 51 of the ETB (Education and Training Board) Act 2013 the Department requests that ETB's accounts of income and expenditure should be retained and made available from time to time to officers of the Department of Education and Skills.

* The expenditure guidelines listed are also relevant for those DEIS schools, in receipt of financial support, (annual HSCL grant) in lieu of the services of a HSCL Coordinator ie. where it is not possible for the school to avail of the services of a HSCL Coordinator within a HSCL cluster, due to the school's geographic location to other DEIS schools.
