

The Ombudsman for Children's Office (OCO) promote the rights and welfare of children and young people under 18 in Ireland. Every year we welcome hundreds of children and young people from all over Ireland to our office in Dublin to take part in education workshops.

We can facilitate your group to learn about their rights in an interactive, age-appropriate way! We can host groups of up to 35 children in our child-friendly space. We can facilitate groups from early years settings right up to senior cycle.

We especially love to welcome youth groups in to our space – so what are you waiting for – book your workshop here:
