Welcome to the Training Resource Centre!

Here you can find materials that will help you deliver your own training sessions on SAGE products, as well as resources for faculty, researchers, and students to learn about our products on their own. The resources below were designed for both new acquisitions as well as libraries with existing SAGE products. We hope you find them useful in increasing discoverability and driving usage at your organisation.

We've split the materials by product, so start exploring by clicking on the product you're interested in!
