

Building Engaged Research for Prevention,
Partnership and Family Support;

Partnership with the National Research Office

RESEARCH is;

- It is something undertaken on an individual basis
- It occurs through or under the auspices of an academic institution
- It is something that leads to an academic qualification.

“The aim of the programme is to prevent risks to children and young people arising or escalating through building sustainable intellectual capacity and manpower within Tusla”

Research Empowerment

“The personal and collective capability and responsibility of all Tusla staff to ask basic research questions as an established component of their professional practice.”

All Tusla staff working within and contributing to such a culture see research as an activity which empowers themselves, empowers their colleagues and empowers all those they practice with leading to a cycle of reflection and knowledge creation.”

Evidence?

Welcome to the

TUSLA RESEARCH CENTRE

The purpose of the Tusla Electronic Research Centre is to provide all Tusla staff with a wide range of social care resources, content and tools to enable research and information-based decision making. It is one of the ways in which Tusla is seeking to become a learning organisation as set out in the Tusla Research Strategy.

RESEARCH Bibliographic Software

These are free web-sites which enable you to record (as well as capture information from websites such as Amazon) on Books, Journals, Websites etc, which can then be saved and output as a bibliography in the required style

RESEARCH Databases

These databases are available free of charge to all Tusla staff nationally

RESEARCH Electronic Journals

Here you will find a large number of peer-reviewed Electronic Journals covering subjects relevant to the work of Tusla staff

RESEARCH Search Engines

A large number and wide variety of general internet search engines exist. A small selection of these is provided here.

RESEARCH Statistics

These links are to a number of Irish and International websites which provide access to a wide range of statistical information.

RESEARCH Web Tools

Here you will find a variety of tools to help you view and monitor research content.
